

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

J. A. Guilford of Dufur was in town Monday. C. J. Vanduy came in from Tygh Valley Monday morning.

The Regulator is now receiving all kinds of through freight for Portland. The wheat fleet headed towards Astoria aggregates 100,000 tons.

We regret to hear that Mr. B. F. Laughlin is confined to his room at Portland.

Mr. S. P. Shutt, editor and proprietor of the Condon Globe, was in the city Sunday.

The Regulator started with a fine load of passengers and freight Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Shear returned from their trip to the east Sunday morning.

Mr. E. M. Shutt, the genial publisher of the Moro Observer, was in The Dalles Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eshelman of Centerville, Wash., are visiting their son, Dr. Eshelman, in the city.

The marriage of Mr. Rand and Miss Georgiana Smith, daughter of Hon. E. L. Smith of Hood River is announced to take place next Sunday at Hood River.

Eighty acres of land belonging to the estate of the late Mike Little of Hood River were sold Wednesday by the sheriff, William Pfunder of Portland for $640.

Joe Trippier of Wapinitia has just got back from the state fair where he took $250 in prizes on his thoroughbred cattle and first money in a 1/2 mile colt race.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and family who have been enjoying the Cascades for the past two months returned to The Dalles by the Regulator last night.

Merchants who desire their goods shipped from below by The Dalles, Portland and Astoria Navigation company should give definite instructions to the shippers to that effect.

The late M. E. conference held at Spokane has transferred Rev. Henry Brown of this city to Spokane. Rev. C. A. Spencer is appointed to take the place of Mr. Brown at The Dalles.

The Astorian has made the discovery that lightning is killing horses and mules in Eastern Oregon. The Astorian is mistaken. There is not enough lightning in the whole Inland Empire to kill a mule.

Exhibits for the district fair have come in so slowly and, as regards some, so late, that we have judged it best to defer a full write up of them till near the close of the fair. Our next weeks issue will contain a full report.

C. J. Vanduy has sent to this office three onions of the Yellow Danvir species that were grown on the flat above Tygh valley known as Tygh prairie without a drop of irrigation. The three weigh exactly two pounds and a half.

M. M. Cushing shipped to Major Ingalls for the Wasco county exhibit in "Oregon on Wheels," three baskets of grapes, that were pronounced by those who saw them before they were shipped as the finest grapes they had ever seen.

The Regulator is getting there. Monday she left the Cascades fifteen minutes later than the Baker. Toward a new five miles up stream, made nine landings while the Baker made two, and arrived in The Dalles fully ten minutes before the Baker. The Regulator can go when she wants to.

The fair commenced Tuesday with one of the most miserable days imaginable to an East Oregonian. The wind blew almost a hurricane, filling the eyes and ears with blinding dust. Today, on the other hand, is absolutely perfect. It is sufficiently cool to be bracing and sufficiently warm to be pleasant.

Superintendent Troy Shelly is now going over the county on his semi-annual visit of the public schools. He left Wednesday for the region south of The Dalles. On Saturday, October 3rd, he will hold a local teachers' meeting at Wamic where he would be pleased to see all the teachers who can conveniently attend.

President Varney came down, yesterday, like a thousand of brick on a little shell game that some itinerant beat had started within the fair ground. The beat claimed he had the authority of the recorder to run the game, but Mr. Varney informed him that no authority outside heaven would entitle him to run his game there. And it didn't.

Master Clyde W. Riddell, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. George Riddell of Columbia precinct, came nearly losing his life Tuesday. He was riding swiftly down hill, after cattle, when his horse stumbled and threw him violently on a rock, bruising him up considerably. Fortunately no bones were broken but it will be some time before he will have full use of his limbs.

While there is not the least doubt that The Dalles will rebuild in due time as handsomely as before, the fact remains that it will require many years of time to replace the magnificent trees which were stripped of their foliage and had their shapely trunks blackened by the great fire. At the time the giant poplars surrounding the old homestead of Mrs. Laughlin were planted the streets in that locality ran with the waste water from the first reservoir, as abundantly as do now the streets of Salt Lake City. This gave an impetus to tree-planting which was not possible later by reason of taxed water and added trouble. The life-giving element. The new wharf boat for the lower landing of the Cascades portage was launched Monday. The boat is 130x40 feet and was built on the spot.

The Chronicle will esteem it a favor if our former readers will fill out and return to this office the blanks we sent a few weeks ago. The information sought is intended for the benefit of the country at large.

Alex. McLeod of Kingsley came into town last evening. He has just finished threshing, and he reports that the crops on Tygh Ridge are, as a whole, turning out better than was expected. His wheat averaged fifteen bushels, but it was all spring plowing and twenty acres was volunteer. He had a small field of barley that went thirty bushels to the acre. His oats were poor which is rather contrary to the rule. Mr. McLeod threshed 2960 bushels all told.

The Regulator did not arrive at her landing last night till nearly nine o'clock. The delay was caused by the difficulty in transferring freight at the lower landing. The Dalles City brought up to the Cascades some 60 tons of freight, part of which had to be left at the Cascades. The work of finishing the western incline is being pushed rapidly and we are assured that in a few days more the portage will be able to handle any reasonable amount of freight that may come to it.

Dr. Vanderpool, of Dufur, informs us of a sad accident which happened to Bruce Driver of Wamic. Mr. Driver, in company with his brothers, was running a threshing and was at work at Mr. Rounde's, on Tygh Ridge, yesterday, and in attending to the work Mr. Driver went behind one of his horses when the horse commenced kicking and he kept it up till he was nearly killed. He had several ribs and an arm broken besides being fearfully lacerated otherwise. The doctor thinks if his internal injuries are not too great he may get over it but it will be some time yet.

The last of the races yesterday, and the one round which not the least interested was the Gentlemen's Roadster half mile trotting race: The best three in five. The entries were Hellen T. by J. W. Condon, Kit Wheeler by F. H. Batton, Pet by M. A. Moody, Ham by J. O. Mack, Jessie by J. P. McInerney and Polly by C. E. Haight. Hellen T., did not start—Ham 1st, Kit Wheeler 2nd, Pet 3rd, Jessie 4th and Polly 5th. Time 1:37. Second heat Kit Wheeler was lame and was withdrawn. Ham 1st, Jessie 2nd, Pet 3rd and Polly 4th. Time 1:26. Third heat Ham 1st, Polly 2nd, Pet 3rd and Jessie 4th. Time 1:35.

Mosier Notes. Mosier, Or., Sept. 23, 1891. Editor of the Chronicle: We had quite a refreshing shower of rain here last Friday and Saturday.

The Mosier post-office has been moved over into the depot, with Mr. Powers as assistant post-master.

Miss Kate Davenport left last Thursday for Portland where she expects to attend school.

Mr. Robert Husbands and friend of Hood River spent a few days last week at the residence of Mr. Husbands of this place.

Mrs. A. A. Marsh and son Willie left Saturday for Viento where Mrs. Marsh's father, Mr. McClure, has his summer dairy.

Some of the Mosierites seem to be enjoying themselves, as there were two dances last Saturday night. One was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Mosier. We understand they intend to leave Mosier.

Miss Spink spent last Saturday and Sunday at her home in The Dalles.

Mr. Troy Shelly, the county school superintendent, passed through Mosier last Tuesday and visited our school.

The Regulator has landed at Husband's landing nearly every day since it started to run. This speaks well for Mosier. M. G.

The Races. The first race Tuesday at the fair grounds was a half mile running saddle-horse dash. There were four entries, Dandy, Lizzie Swift, Dolly Varden and Butterfly. After a fair start the horses came in in the following order: Butterfly, first; Lizzie Swift, second; Dandy, third; Dolly Varden; distanced. Time 55 seconds.

Race No. 2 was a quarter mile. There were three entries, Frank Hastings, Mammie S. and Herald. Herald got the pole. The race was won by Frank Hastings, Mammie S. taking second place. Time 25 seconds.

A match race for $100 side was run between Joe Trippier's Pay Day and Andy Swift's Ridley, one-half mile, catch weights. The race was won by Pay Day; time, 52 seconds.

The last race was Mile heats, best three in five and was contested for by Frank Butten's Bell Rooney and J. W. Tilden's Banker. Bell Rooney won first and second heat; Banker was distanced. This closed the races for the day.

Through Freight Received. We have been requested to announce that The Dalles, Portland & Astoria Navigation Company is ready to receive all classes of through freight to Portland, except live stock, and this class of freight the company expects to be able to handle early next week. The present delay, the agent here informs us, is caused by the inability of the superintendent of construction of the portage road to procure the necessary piles as fast as the workmen are able to put them in place at the end of the incline. All this will be remedied in a few days at farthest.

MARRIED. At Hood River last Sunday, Mr. C. E. Miller to Miss Clara Frazier. Mr. Miller is a very worthy young man and a trusted employee of the Oregon Lumber Co. The bride is the younger sister of Miss Mary Frazier, of this city. The Chronicle wishes the young couple many happy days.

The Grange Store Will Be Re-opened. The stock-holders of the Eastern Oregon Co-operative Association held a meeting in this city Tuesday at which it was decided to resume business just as soon as suitable accommodations can be obtained and a stock purchased. This will be good news to the many friends of the enterprise.

manner in which the relief fund is being distributed, or to put it as it is put to us—not distributed, a Chronicle reporter made it his business to ask the opinion of Mayor Mays on the subject. The question was put in this form: "Mr. Mays, the Chronicle is constantly hearing complaints that only a very limited few have received any benefit from the relief fund and that the practical management and distribution of the fund has been placed in the hands of a number of young ladies, appointed as a sub-committee, who, notwithstanding that they belong to our best families and are excellent persons every way, are necessarily lacking in the judgment and experience necessary for such work. Have you any objection to give the readers of the Chronicle your opinion on the matter?" "I should be sorry," said the Mayor, "that any words of mine would be construed to reflect in any way on the sub-committee of young ladies. We have no better young ladies in this city. There can be no question as to their zeal and earnestness and desire to do right, and I have felt, in common with many other citizens, that the relief committee made a grave mistake when the ladies delegated the difficult work of seeking out the really needy and relieving them, to younger hands. It was to avoid this mistake that, in selecting the committee, I appointed only ladies of mature years and extensive experience and acquaintance and I personally regret very much that these ladies have seen fit to appoint this sub-committee. In my opinion it would have been much better, in case any of them found it impossible to give the necessary time or attention to the business, to have resigned so that another person, equally suitable, might have been appointed to fill her place."

A Citizen's Views. THE DALLES, Sept. 21, 1891. Editor Chronicle: Would it not be a good plan for those who intend building at all to try to put up good buildings that will be an honor, not a disgrace to the town. Now the mayor of our city has not (although a most excellent man, and an honest conscientious one, too) set a very good example to the citizens of The Dalles by building a wooden building. He had plenty of the wherewithal to have put up a substantial brick building and should have done so to encourage others as to the future of this town. Now, you builders, you who intend remaining, you intend to start up in business, see to it that you have better buildings than ever before; that is what speaks well for a town. Don't put up shanties that will not take five minutes to burn down. Let those who intend building residences put up good buildings—better than you had before—and help the town on its feet again. Don't give it a kick by putting up a shanty. This is a good place for a town, a good place to live, and with the proper spirit of its citizens will in the near future be a city of no small merit. OLIVER TWIST.

A Complaint. THE DALLES, Sept. 21, 1891. Editor Chronicle: A good many have asked me this question: "What is the relief committee going to do with all the money which has been sent for the relief of those who were burned out in the late fire? I am flattered and the committee haven't asked me whether I needed anything or not?" And the query puzzled me, for, if the committee intend doing what is right, they will certainly find out all who suffered by the conflagration and help them—not relieve just a very few and take the remaining dollars and use them for some other purpose or let them lie idle. If ever help was needed it is now—not next winter when each has purchased everything himself and gone in debt for everything rather than freeze or starve to death. What is being done with all the provisions, wood and money that has been kindly donated by sister cities for the relief of all those who suffered by the fire of the 2d inst? I hope some one will look into the matter and see that the donations are divided fairly. ONE WHO WAS "IN IT."

A Card to the Public. Having disposed of my entire stock of groceries, provisions, and good will to Messrs. Chrisman & Corson of this city, I cheerfully recommend them as worthy of the same confidence so kindly bestowed upon me. While retiring from the grocery business, I wish to express my heartfelt gratitude to my many friends and patrons for the liberal support and pleasant business relations during these many years, and bespeak for my successors the same kindly treatment from a generous public. 21-41 Geo. Ruch.

J. O. Mote, a bogus physician, as well as a "kuss" and fraud, has been through the country swindling the gullible people of this great round valley, by representing himself as able to cure all the ills to which flesh is heir. He succeeded in getting large sums of money, ranging from $7 up to $500 from some of our farmers, whose names we do not like to publish. When will people learn a little common sense? Read the papers.—La Grande Chronicle.

The present weak prices for wheat, in view of conditions abroad, are said to be due to American dealers having gotten into the habit of putting down their own prices whenever "lower cables" are reported. As a wise observer says: "We shall hold to the theory that English markets have been broken because of the weakness on this side. American dealers have been accustomed for years to be looking abroad for quotations which to base their own, and cannot grow into the idea that America controls prices."—Spokane Review.

Saved From Death by Onions. There has no doubt been more lives of children saved from death in croup or whooping cough by the use of onions than any other known remedy. Our mothers used to make poultices of them, or a syrup, which was always effectual in breaking up a cough or cold. Dr. Gunn's Onion Syrup is made by combining a few simple remedies with it which make it more effective as a medicine and also give it the taste and odor of the onion. 50c. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.

A Very Bold Thief. Wednesday afternoon a tramp who possessed the audacity of a prize fighter and the cheek of a political aspirant, and having no fear of the law, doctors or any other man before him, burglarized the house of our fellow-townsmen Mr. Whann, the business manager of Staver & Walker, and succeeded in making a haul that would or ought to have satisfied a first-class thief. Upon taking account of stock, he had stolen about $250 worth of jewelry, some $6 in cash, a revolver and Mr. Whann's best articles of raiment. Upon the discovery of the theft, the officials were notified and a search for the thief was instituted, and after a most diligent search, he was discovered a short distance above town in a clump of bushes near the railroad track, arrested and brought before Justice Knowles. It being late in the evening His Honor relegated him to the tender mercies of Marshal McLachlan, who furnished him with first-class accommodations in our city jail. During the night while the marshal was going to provide a few delicacies such as angel cake and shrimps for the aforesaid tramp's fastidious palate, he repaid his kindness by endeavoring to break jail. He had in some manner secured a large piece of a broken bottle, and wrapping a cloth around it, he slipped it through the window. He was soon placed in a position where he was perfectly safe. Thursday morning he again appeared before Justice Knowles, who bound him over to the grand jury, $1,000 to appear before the grand jury.—Grand Ronde Chronicle.

The supposition is that some good "hub" who knows how it is himself has written this sensible little paragraph on domestic felicity: "A man seldom prospers in the world without the co-operation of his wife. If she unites in mutual endeavors, or rewards his labors with an endearing smile, with what confidence will he resort to his farm, fly over the land, sail upon seas, meet difficulty, and encounter danger, if he knows that he is not spending his strength in vain, but that his labor will be rewarded by the sweets of home! Solicitude and disappointment enter the history of every man's life, and he is but half provided for his voyage who finds but an associate for happy hours, while for his successful journey he has no sympathizing partner is prepared."

A healthy young man who takes wine or any other intoxicating drink, knows whether he has taken into his system a friend or a foe. He knows that it increases, not quenches, thirst; that it raises his spirits for a short time and depresses them for hours that follow; that it flashes excites disturbs and injures him. Nothing has been more certainly demonstrated than that the use of alcoholic drinks in our keen, exciting climate is a mistake. This is a simple fact. Use the best food. As to intoxicating drinks, there is only one safe rule and that is to abstain.

A Day of Reckoning Coming. Dr. Talmage, in an address to saloon-keepers, closes with this strong paragraph: "I tell you plainly that you will meet poor customers one day when there will be no counter between you. When your work is done on earth, and you enter the reward of your business, all the souls of the men whom you have destroyed will crowd around you and pour their utter-ness in your ears. They will show you their wounds, and say, 'You made them; and point to their unquenchable thirst; and say, 'You killed them; and rattle their chains, and say, 'You forged it.' Then their united groans will smite your ear; and with the hands out of which you once picked out sixpences and the dimes which you will push you off the verge of the great precipice; while rolling up from beneath, and breaking among the crags of death, will thunder, 'Woe to him that greiveth his neighbor!'"

This is a dark picture of a terrible scene, but no darker than the reality will be.

This interesting story is told of Horace Greeley: He was presiding at a dinner given by the press, in 1868, at Delmonico's in honor of Charles Dickens, and "while Dickens partook freely of the wine," Greeley did not turn his glasses down, but thrust them out of his way, with a single exception, and in that placed a beautiful red rose that had been furnished for his boutonniere, and during the dinner lifted the glass to his nose as often as others raised glasses to their mouths, and the fragrance of the rose was all the stimulant he needed. "It was a characteristic incident, and the lesson of it is impressive even yet."

Miss Sallie Holly, a Virginian, believing that self-help is the only solution of "the negro problem," is establishing small schools throughout Virginia, where negro girls may learn in one year to read, write and make correct change. From newspapers they are expected to acquire general geography, history and spelling for their limited needs, while sewing, darning and patching, dress-making, millinery and cooking complete the curriculum. Every girl who graduates is expected to be a missionary of the gospel of intelligent industry among her race.—Harper's Bazaar.

Unnecessary Sufferings. There is little doubt but that many persons suffer for years with ailments that could easily be cured by the use of some simple remedy. The following incident is an illustration of this fact: My wife was troubled with a pain in her side the greater part of the time for three weeks, until cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It has, I think, permanently cured her. We also have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy whenever she has been troubled with a cough or cold. P. M. Boston, Pennville, Sullivan Co., Missouri. For sale by Snipes & Kinersly Druggists.

About the boldest theft on record is that of a Kansas man who employed a steam threshing outfit, men and wagons, and removed a crop of wheat from a farm, sold it and walked off with the money—about $100—in his pockets without anybody suspecting that he was not the rightful owner of the wheat, and not satisfied with stealing the wheat he left without paying the men who had helped him handle it.

An Old Adage. There is an old adage: "What every body says must be true." Henry Cook, of New Knoxville, Ohio, in a recent letter says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has taken me here. Every body likes it on account of the immediate relief it gives." There is nothing like it to loosen and relieve a severe cold. For sale by Snipes & Kinersly, druggists, dr.

September 19, 1891. EASTERN OREGON—WEATHER.

Cooler weather has prevailed, with light winds and clouds. On the more elevated portions light frosts have occurred.

CROPS. Wheat, oats, barley and rye have all been cut and threshing is in progress especially in the counties east of and south of the Blue mountains. Threshing is practically over in Umatilla county. In Morrow county there were not enough sacks to hold the wheat and more have been ordered. In other counties the supply of sacks was about used up, showing the grain to have yielded so much more than was expected. The yield of cereals is unusually great in all interior counties. Preparations are being made for preparing the ground for seed, summer fallow is being worked, and many sections expect to have a large or larger average next year, than they had this.

AN IRRIGATING SCHEME. It Will Benefit the Soil and Also Re-Heve the Financial Stringency.

ELLENBURG, Sept. 23.—Notice of election has just been issued by the director of the middle irrigation district, proposing voting to bond the district for $200,000. Bids for the construction will then be asked. One of the most reliable contracting firms in the state has a representative here who offers to take the bonds at par for building the ditch. It is understood that other similar propositions will be made. In the present condition of business it is expected that some low bids will be received. This ditch will be fifty miles long, twelve feet wide at the bottom and eighteen feet at the top, with water four feet deep. It will bring under cultivation about 40,000 additional acres of land and will be of great benefit to the people of Ellensburg and this valley. There is a demand for the bonds, and the certainty that the ditch will be built, causes a revival in the spirits of the people, and they think the financial stringency will soon be over.
